

Council Postpones Start On School

Aurora—Any hope that a start might be made on the proposed new Aurora public school in 1949 faded on Monday night as council took no action on the request of the Aurora public school board for a by-law to go before the Ontario Municipal Board, and favored holding a public meeting in September when the entire matter can be discussed by a large representative meeting of taxpayers. It was felt that holidays and warm weather would not enable a well attended meeting to be held earlier.

On June 24, the Aurora Board of Trade passed the following resolution which was transmitted to council by letter: "The executive of the Aurora Board of Trade approves the action taken by Aurora town council in calling a public meeting to discuss the school question."

Two other letters, one from ex-Councillor A. N. Fisher, and one from school trustee Stuart Mills, were also before council on the subject. Mr. Fisher wrote: "Along with other taxpayers I am very much concerned about what action the school board is likely to take in securing more accommodation. It is my sincere opinion that the high school should be bought, and I have been informed it can be purchased for around $75,000, in fact, the high school board has been waiting for the public school board to make them an offer."

"I am convinced this is not the right time to think of building a complete new school when there is a good chance of securing the high school. Our taxes have increased a lot this year and are likely to go higher, but think how much higher they will have to go if a new school is built. Some remarks have already been made to the effect that citizens will not build in town as their taxes would be so much less to build outside town. We do not want a few to be taxed to death. I know you will want to do the thing the people want, and this is why I am passing along my opinion."

Trustee W. S. Mills who was unable to be present at the meeting to express his views, wrote "Council action and school board fumbling has now delayed the commencement of construction sufficiently to make impossible the erection of walls and roof before winter. There would seem to be little reason for urgency respecting the holding of a meeting." Mr. Mills suggested the middle of July, as was thought likely for the meeting at one stage, would not be desirable since many would be away. When the meeting for the public is held, Mr. Mills recommended having a man of prestige, disassociated from Aurora's particular problems, at the meeting to express his view freely. He recommended Prof. Eric R. Athurs of the School of Architecture, who he thought would be available.

Special Garbage Truck Mooted To Council

Newmarket—Land has been reclaimed in Barrie by filling in gulches with packed garbage and the results of these undertakings have been satisfactory, according to two members of Newmarket town council. Advantages of a load packer garbage collection truck were explained by Aubrey Seythes at a meeting Monday night in a report from the garbage committee. Councilors Seythes and Birrell made a trip to Barrie to inspect the new load packer truck and its work. Ravines have been filled in winter and a little earth dumped on in the spring to cover the garbage, making a solid ground, said Mr. Seythes. Most people don't know where it is dumped, even those living 300 yards away, and there is no trouble with rats, he said.

The machine compresses garbage and separates the liquid from it, according to the committee men. Tenders are under the consideration of the committee which stipulate contracts for garbage collection with this new equipment.

C.N.E. Women's Booths Aid To Homemakers

Name your household problem and the Women's Section of the 1948 CNE will demonstrate the answer. New ideas by the dozen are being planned, many to be presented against a Coliseum background that itself will be new, streamlined and colorful.

You will see 14 model rooms, some for town, others for country living, all designed and arranged for this year's CNE by the Toronto artist, John Hall. An interior decorator will discuss the furniture use, its cost and usefulness, and also give advice on your personal decorating problems.

In one of the new workshops, leading Canadian women florists will teach you the tricks of floral arrangement, suggesting as well how cut flowers can be made to last longer. Arrangements will be demonstrated both afternoon and evening with novel floral arrangements on view at all times.

Instruction will be given in another workshop on how to upholster that old chair you may have wondered how you could use. Nearby you can pick up useful pointers on the best methods of painting around the house.

Musselman's Lake Claims First Drowning Victim

Musselman's Lake claimed its first victim of the year on Monday when an American visitor, Richard Herblein of 156 Landon St., Buffalo, N.Y., was drowned. Mr. Herblein was in a rowboat with another American, Daniel Morris, which they had rented from Cedar Beach pavilion. A short distance from shore Morris, who was rowing, turned the boat and was struck by a gust of wind and a swell, overturning the craft. Mr. Herblein sank in 20 feet of water while Morris clung to the boat until he was rescued by Vern Davies and James Pigeon. An intensive search started for Herblein's body by local residents and Constables Ron Watt, Whitechurch, and William Langman of Aurora. Darkness intervened and the body was discovered early Tuesday morning. Herblein and Morris were visiting Jack and Clifford Stockman of East Utica, N.Y., annual cottagers in the district.

Remand Toronto Youth On Newmarket Break-In

Convicted of breaking and entering two Newmarket residences, a Toronto juvenile, age 15, was remanded one week for sentence at the juvenile court in Toronto on Monday afternoon.

The youth, a ward of Bowmanville reform school, pleaded guilty to the charges. A $10 bill was taken from the residence of Mrs. W. E. Richardson, 83 Prospect St., and a pen and pencil set, a penknife and $15 in silver were taken from the home of Ed Wrightman, 82 Park Ave. Everything was recovered except some of the $15 in silver. Constables Leeder and William Hill, Jr., Newmarket, made the arrest.

Connect Sewers Under River At Davis Dr.

Newmarket—Construction of a siphon for a sewer under the river at the Davis Dr. bridge has been under way the past week. A sewer was built two years ago along Davis Dr., joining the main sewer west of the railway tracks but without a crossing at the river, according to town engineer D. D. Bosworth, and construction of the siphon is necessary to let it pass under the river for a connection on the east side.

Frank Bowser, chairman of the roads and bridges committee of council, said that there are only seven days in the year that could be used without hampering the use of water supply to the tannery and that is during the holiday week.

PAINTS 'WELCOME' SIGNS

Newmarket—R. L. Chadwick has been repainting the Lions club "Welcome" signs at the outskirts of Newmarket. The "Stop" signs in town are also being repainted, an innovation being the coloring of the word "Stop" in red with the words "Through Street" in black on a white background.

Then to round out midday's visit to the women's section of the Coliseum, a beauty shop will be equipped to provide free facials. Just next door will be the modern new tea court where amidst pleasant surroundings she can relax and have a cup of tea.

Former Partisan Fighter Border Barred To Student

By J. E. STRUTHERS
Newmarket—Stranded by the U.S. immigration authorities, Panaghis A. Anastassatos, 18, a Pickering College student and citizen of Greece, is waiting in Newmarket for papers from his country that might persuade the American officials to allow him across the border.

The Pickering student's plans for the summer months were to go to New York and with two fellow students, work on one of his father's ships which plies between New York and Greece. He has not been allowed into the U.S., however, and he believes that it is because of his past association with EPON, a Greek partisan organization.

Panaghis, veteran of service with guerilla fighters in German-occupied Greece, joined a resistance group in Athens when he was 13. The aim of the organization was to fight German and this he did in his home town, Athens, later "graduating" to the partisan army in the hills.

After the war he was in the merchant marine for some time and last year came to Canada and Pickering for an education. His father owns the Punta Alta steamship lines in New York.

The resistance group with which he fought has since been fully taken over by the Communists and is known as a Communist organization. Panaghis believes that American F.B.I. authorities won't allow him entrance into the U.S. for this reason. At present he is trying to get papers from Greece that will prove that he is not a member of a Communist organization.

Panaghis has completed a year in grade XI at Pickering this year.

Demand For Help Heavy On Farms

Newmarket—The Newmarket Lumber Company, which is opening on Davis Dr. at the former International Wood plant, is expected to employ about 15 skilled and semi-skilled workers according to a report for June from the employment office here.

Manufacturing has continued on the same level in Newmarket and skilled male and unskilled female labor is still scarce. The unskilled workers available for employment in industries are not suitable, however, for employers here, the report says.

Farmers have shown a big demand for help and about one-third who have applied for labor will accept untrained or partly trained workers. The rest haven't the time to train men for the jobs. Many farmers have been asking for student help which is scarce this summer but a few factory workers on holidays have gone out to work on farms.

The employment office sent out some unskilled women workers to the Holland Marsh farms but reports that female labor is of no use on mixed or dairy farms at this time of year. The hay crop this season is said to be 80 to 90 percent of normal.

Construction work is at its peak of the season so far and there is a shortage of skilled carpenters and bricklayers. Some men went to Barrie in extra gang labor and the type of strong young men for heavy construction labor is scarce. Summer resort areas report that business is below that of last year. Although most hotels are booked up, reservations have not been as far in advance. There are still plenty of openings for jobs in the resort areas which require service trades.

SUBSCRIPTION RATE UP 50 CENTS

The steady increase in production costs have left no alternative but to increase the subscription rate of The Newmarket Era and Express by 50 cents a year. This is in keeping with a similar increase made by other weekly newspapers of The Era and Express circulation class.

The increase is effective August 1. All subscribers, regardless of when their current subscriptions expire, have until August 1 to renew at the $2 rate for one year, $3 for two years.

After August 1, the rate will be $2.50 yearly, $3 for two years - in the U.S.A. $3 yearly, $5 for two years.

The price per copy of 5 cents remains the same.

Parking At Bus Stops Will Bring Summons

Newmarket—Parking in bus stop areas will warrant a summons from now on, according to Chief Constable Byron Burbridge. "A by-law has been passed by the town and approved by the provincial government prohibiting parking at the bus stops," said Chief Burbridge. "Persons parking in these approved areas will receive a summons," he said.

Town To License Alleys, Billiard Tables

Newmarket—The operation of billiard tables and bowling alleys will be licensed and regulated by a new by-law which passed second reading by the council on Monday night.

Each bowling alley will require a $15 license and billiard or pool tables require a license of $20 for the first and $10 for each additional table. Licenses must be taken out January 1 of each year. The by-law also forbids obscene language, betting and admission of persons under 16 years. Fines up to $25 can be imposed on persons contravening the provisions of the by-law.

Newmarket Lions At Timmins Convention

Several Newmarket Lions club members and their wives attended the annual district convention held at Timmins where hundreds gathered a week ago Sunday for the three-day convention program. Groups went to Timmins from all over Ontario as well as from other parts of Canada and for many, it was a first visit to that part of the country.

From Newmarket were Lions, president and Mrs. R. L. Pritchard, president elect and Mrs. Chester Best, treasurer Frank Courtney and Mrs. Courtney, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Baile, Mrs. C. G. Wainman, Mrs. W. L. Bosworth, Ralph Boag, Dr. S. J. Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Spear, Percy Hutchinson, Seneca Cook and Tom Doyle.

On the convention schedule were business meetings, social events, sports, entertainment, sightseeing tours and visits to the mines. Lions travelled to Timmins by train and car.

Name Frank Widdfield Town Weed Inspector

Newmarket—The weed inspector for Newmarket, appointed at the council meeting on Monday night, is Frank Widdfield who has already been doing town work for the property committee of the council.

The appointment of a sanitary inspector was held over. Councillor R. C. Morrison, chairman of the police committee, was asked if the chief of police would take on the job. Mr. Morrison said the chief constable might work in an unofficial capacity until the end of the year when the appointment of another person was made.

Chief Constable Burbridge has stated on other occasions that he would not take on the position; he said that it was a full time job for someone who knew the conditions of sanitation.

'Herm' Gilroy Sends Hello Via Motorbikes

Two Vancouverites motorbiked into Newmarket this week with greetings from Herman Gilroy. The visitors are in business near Mr. Gilroy who, learning of their tour, asked them to go by way of Newmarket and say hello to old friends. On the instructions of Mr. Gilroy, the two took a picture of Mr. Gilroy's former place of business at the corner of Main and Botsford Sts.

Mr. Gilroy has been quite active since his arrival in the west, and his latest job has been to organize a businessmen's association in the area where he has established himself. A neighboring businessman of Mr. Gilroy is Norman Williams who at one time ran a confectionary shop in Newmarket.

Assessment Board Begins Review

Newmarket—Appointed members of the five-man assessment board, B. W. Hunter, Harold Eaton, Joseph Waterhouse, Ross Howlett and Frank Doyle will work out a new equalized assessment of all residential and commercial property in Newmarket.

A by-law covering the appointment passed two readings at a special council meeting on Monday night, the third and final reading to be held over until a settlement is made on salaries.

"What assurance have we got that these unequal assessments will be corrected?" asked one councillor who wondered if the council would be able to check the new assessments. Mayor Vale answered that it was entirely up to the good faith of the five men who were to do the job and asked what better assurance could there be. He stated that as long as he was mayor, the council could not check the assessments in an official capacity.

Eaton and Hunter started taking information for assessments on properties on Monday when it was reported at council that they had obtained complete information on several properties that day. The five assessors will review all information on each property before making a final decision on the assessment.

Paving Davis Dr. Would Require Petition

Newmarket—To get pavement on Davis Dr., west of Main St., would require a petition from the taxpayers, according to town engineer D. D. Bosworth. A width of approximately 18 feet in the centre is county road and the paving of the outside edges and construction of curbs would have to be done under a local improvement project. The paving of Davis Dr. has been rumored lately, impetus being added to the talk by the construction of a bridge over the new Barrie highway.

A local improvement is brought in by a petition from the taxpayers. There has been agitation from individuals from time to time to have Davis Dr. west paved but to the engineer's knowledge there has been no petition put forth.

ON HOLIDAYS

Newmarket — Agricultural Representative W. M. "Moff" Cockburn is taking his holidays the first two weeks in July. Mr. Cockburn is spending most of the vacation at a lake near Huntsville where he is building a cottage.

Report Urges Steps To Improve Roads

Newmarket—The condition of paved streets in Newmarket was outlined in a report by the Warren Bituminous Paving company, read by Reeve Arthur D. Evans at council meeting on Monday night. Based on a personal survey, the report recommended the immediate construction of curbs and gutters on streets where there are none. It recommended a one-inch asphalt top on certain streets that were paved in 1921 and minor repairs to others paved in 1927. Estimates on costs were given.

Reeve Evans said that council would not likely consider work on streets where the county owns the centre 18 feet. Included in this category are Main, Gormham, Water and part of Davis Dr. and Prospect.

Consideration must be given to the paving of streets, street lighting improvements and a new fire siren according to Reeve Evans who said in a previous council meeting that the town will have to think about taking out debentures for these improvements.

To Hear Charges Here After Riot Call

Newmarket—Five youths will appear in Newmarket magistrate's court tomorrow on charges of vagrancy. They were arrested during gang disturbances at Wilcox Lake on Saturday when 15 were arrested and 60 more were summoned after police received a riot call at Wilcox and Musselman's lakes.

Constable Ronald Watt of Whitechurch police said the five to appear here are on $200 bail. The ten others were taken in custody to Don Jail for court appearance on Monday morning. Cottagers complained to police about the disturbances which are said to have been going on during the last month. It is believed that most of the youths involved in the rowdiness belong to two gangs, from east and west Toronto.

David Bastedo Wins Essay Contest

Newmarket—The Wild Flower Conservation essay contest open to the pupils of the three Grade 8 classes in Newmarket produced some very excellent work. Each school held its own preliminary contest with the respective teachers as judges and from the entries selected the three best essays. These were then forwarded to the Newmarket Horticultural Society which is sponsoring the contest.

First prize for the King George school went to David Bastedo; for St. John's Separate school, Ann O'Connor; Alexander Muir school, John Boynton.

From these winners the first prize winning essay for Newmarket was selected and will be forwarded to the provincial competition for which there are 15 valuable prizes. David Bastedo was the winner with the best essay of all schools, and the society wishes him the best of luck in the larger contest. Judge of the competition was W. L. Kidd, and the other prize-winners (not listed in order of merit) are: Jean Rose, Joyce Casey, Bill McHale, Taylor Gilbert, Dawn Gilmour and Colleen Skead. Prizes were donated by the Office Specialty Mfg. Co. Ltd.

MAGISTRATE'S COURT

Year To 18 Months Term Given Youth

Newmarket—A prison sentence of one year to 18 months, and six months concurrent was given to Alvin Wolfe Johnson, 17, Wilcox Lake, in magistrate's court on Friday. Johnson was convicted a week ago Friday of pointing a loaded revolver at Irwin Cornfield, taxi driver, and also of forcibly seizing Cornfield.

Magistrate Hollinrake said the youth had been away from the home influence for two years, that it was a first offence but that he couldn't treat it as a boyish prank. The consequences might have been more serious, he said. A heavy sentence might be detrimental, but a light sentence might be conceived as treating the offence lightly, said the magistrate. Counsel for the defence was Jos. Vale, Newmarket. The charges were laid by Detective Martindale, York county police.

A youth, Robert Snow, Toronto, was remanded for one week on $200 bail on a charge of breaking and entering the residence of Ernest Williams, Glenwood Park, North Willowbury.

Fines were imposed on five people for speeding through Queensville, some as high as $11. Two fines of $10 and costs were imposed for illegal possession of liquor at Musselman's Lake; one other was dismissed when the accused said that he did not know the liquor was in the car which he had borrowed. J. D. McCracken, Toronto, was fined $15 and costs for drinking at Musselman's Lake outside a parked car. Constable Aubrey Fleury laid the charges.

Junior Farmers Command Respect

Perhaps the mostly highly respected group of farm young people in Ontario is the Junior Farmers' Association. Its counterpart in boys and girls of younger years and one that is fast being recognized as the training ground for the senior organizations is the Ontario Boys' and Girls' Club taking up various kinds of club work. These are groups of farm young people between the ages of 12 and 21 who are interested in increasing their knowledge of various farm aspects such as calves, swine, sheep, poultry, horses, grain, potatoes and gardens. The entire project is organized under the direction of the agricultural representatives branch of the Ontario department of agriculture. Many of our prominent young farmers attribute a great deal of success to their training received while in club work.

In York county the most popular clubs are calf and grain projects. This year there are four calf clubs and one grain club. Many of the boys drive as far as 20 miles to attend one of these meetings of which there are generally four or five in a season. The club term opens in May and concludes on Achievement Day, usually at a local fair, in the early fall. Locally there is the Sharon Calf Club with some 20 members showing both dairy and beef calves.

Typical Member

Let's follow a typical calf club boy through the season. His name is Earl Kennedy. Earl has joined the club to learn better care and management methods, how to select good stock, how to keep records and generally to create a greater interest for cattle. His father keeps grade cattle at home but Earl has secured for himself a purebred calf, registered and tattooed. It is his own. On May 1 he started keeping records of all the feed consumed by his calf in a record book provided by the dominion department of agriculture and also the cost was noted. These monthly records were sent in by the fifth of the next month to the assistant agricultural representative who studied them and later made suggestions to Earl on how he could cut down costs and also maintain a good calf.

The Club held meetings once a month at farms in the community. At these meetings the boys were taught how to throw cattle, clip hoofs, de-louse, show cattle, clip for show and make rope halters. They were called upon to give talks on the various breeds and sub subjects and their art of public speaking was further developed by giving reasons on classes of cattle before the other boys. They were taught to pick out good and bad points in an animal. Business methods were demonstrated by the various officers of the clubs. By the end of the summer Earl's dad remarked on how much he had learned and when Earl won the open men's judging competition at a breed picnic, his father was convinced that Earl's time had been spent to good advantage.

Summer Work

During the summer Earl had looked after his calf well and attended all the meetings. He did well in his examination on club work at the end of the season; he stood first on showmanship winning a leather show halter and stood well up in the judging competition. When the judge lined the calves up on type, Earl was not first but was near the top. When all the marks were tallied, however, Earl had the highest aggregate score and won a scholarship to a short course at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, donated by the Downtown Kiwanis Club. Later on the same organization treated all members of the club who completed, to a dinner at the Royal York and later the same boys were guests at the Royal Winter Fair.

So ends a club season for Earl Kennedy. Next year he will be at it again and possibly be chosen to represent his club at the provincial judging competitions. He is one of over 80 boys in this work in York county and one of over 3,600 in Ontario—a future farmer, gaining all the experience and knowledge he can in the interests of himself, his farm and his community.

First Steps Towards Equalization

Promises "to do something" about inequalities of assessment in Newmarket have been made at every election for years. Now these promises are to be redeemed. The town council has set in motion the necessary machinery for the equalization of assessments by the provision for the appointment of a five-man board of assessors who will review property values throughout the town. The council's action is to be commended.

Unfortunately, there is considerable misconception about the council's action, and the council discussions have added to the confusion by the argument over a proper definition of what is intended. A good portion of the public takes it for granted that as a result of equalization of assessments, their tax rates will climb. It is by no means that painful a prospect. By reviewing all property values, the board can establish a definite yardstick against which to measure existing assessments. Where there is over-assessment, the assessment will be reduced, where under-assessment, it will be raised.

If an assessment is raised, it still does not follow that the taxes of the owner will be any higher. If, for sake of argument, all assessments were raised, the council could reduce the mill rate and still collect the same revenues as they would with a low assessment and a correspondingly higher mill rate. The equalization of assessment is not a move primarily to collect more revenues, but to place all property owners on the same footing.

Need For New Election Act Must Be Met

Obsolete election laws cost over 100 Newmarket citizens their votes in the last provincial election. In a provincial election the municipal election list is used for centres the size of Newmarket. In most instances, the municipal lists are drawn up in October. To accommodate any changes between October and the date of a provincial election, a court is held before which petitions for corrections of the municipal list are placed.

In the last election, the deadline for filing these petitions in Newmarket was the same date that it was announced, the court following a few days later. Those whose names had been left off the municipal list, and thus the provincial list, were given virtually no opportunity to have corrections made. Once the provincial election list for centres like Newmarket is compiled, no changes are permitted. Thus Newmarket citizens who moved to town after October or were marked in error on the municipal list, lost their ballot.

The inadequacy of the provincial electoral laws has been noted before. In 1944, a select all-party committee of the legislature was set up to study the Ontario election laws. In 1945, the committee unanimously recommended new legislation, similar to that followed in dominion elections. The new legislation had been given first and second readings when the house was dissolved in 1945. Nothing further was done and the election of 1948 was notable for the disenfranchisement of thousands of voters throughout the province.

With the need for new election laws so obvious, with the report of the 1944 committee as a guide, there is no excuse for further delay in rehabilitating the provincial electoral acts. New election legislation should be given priority when the house assembles again.

Breakdown Of Public Morality

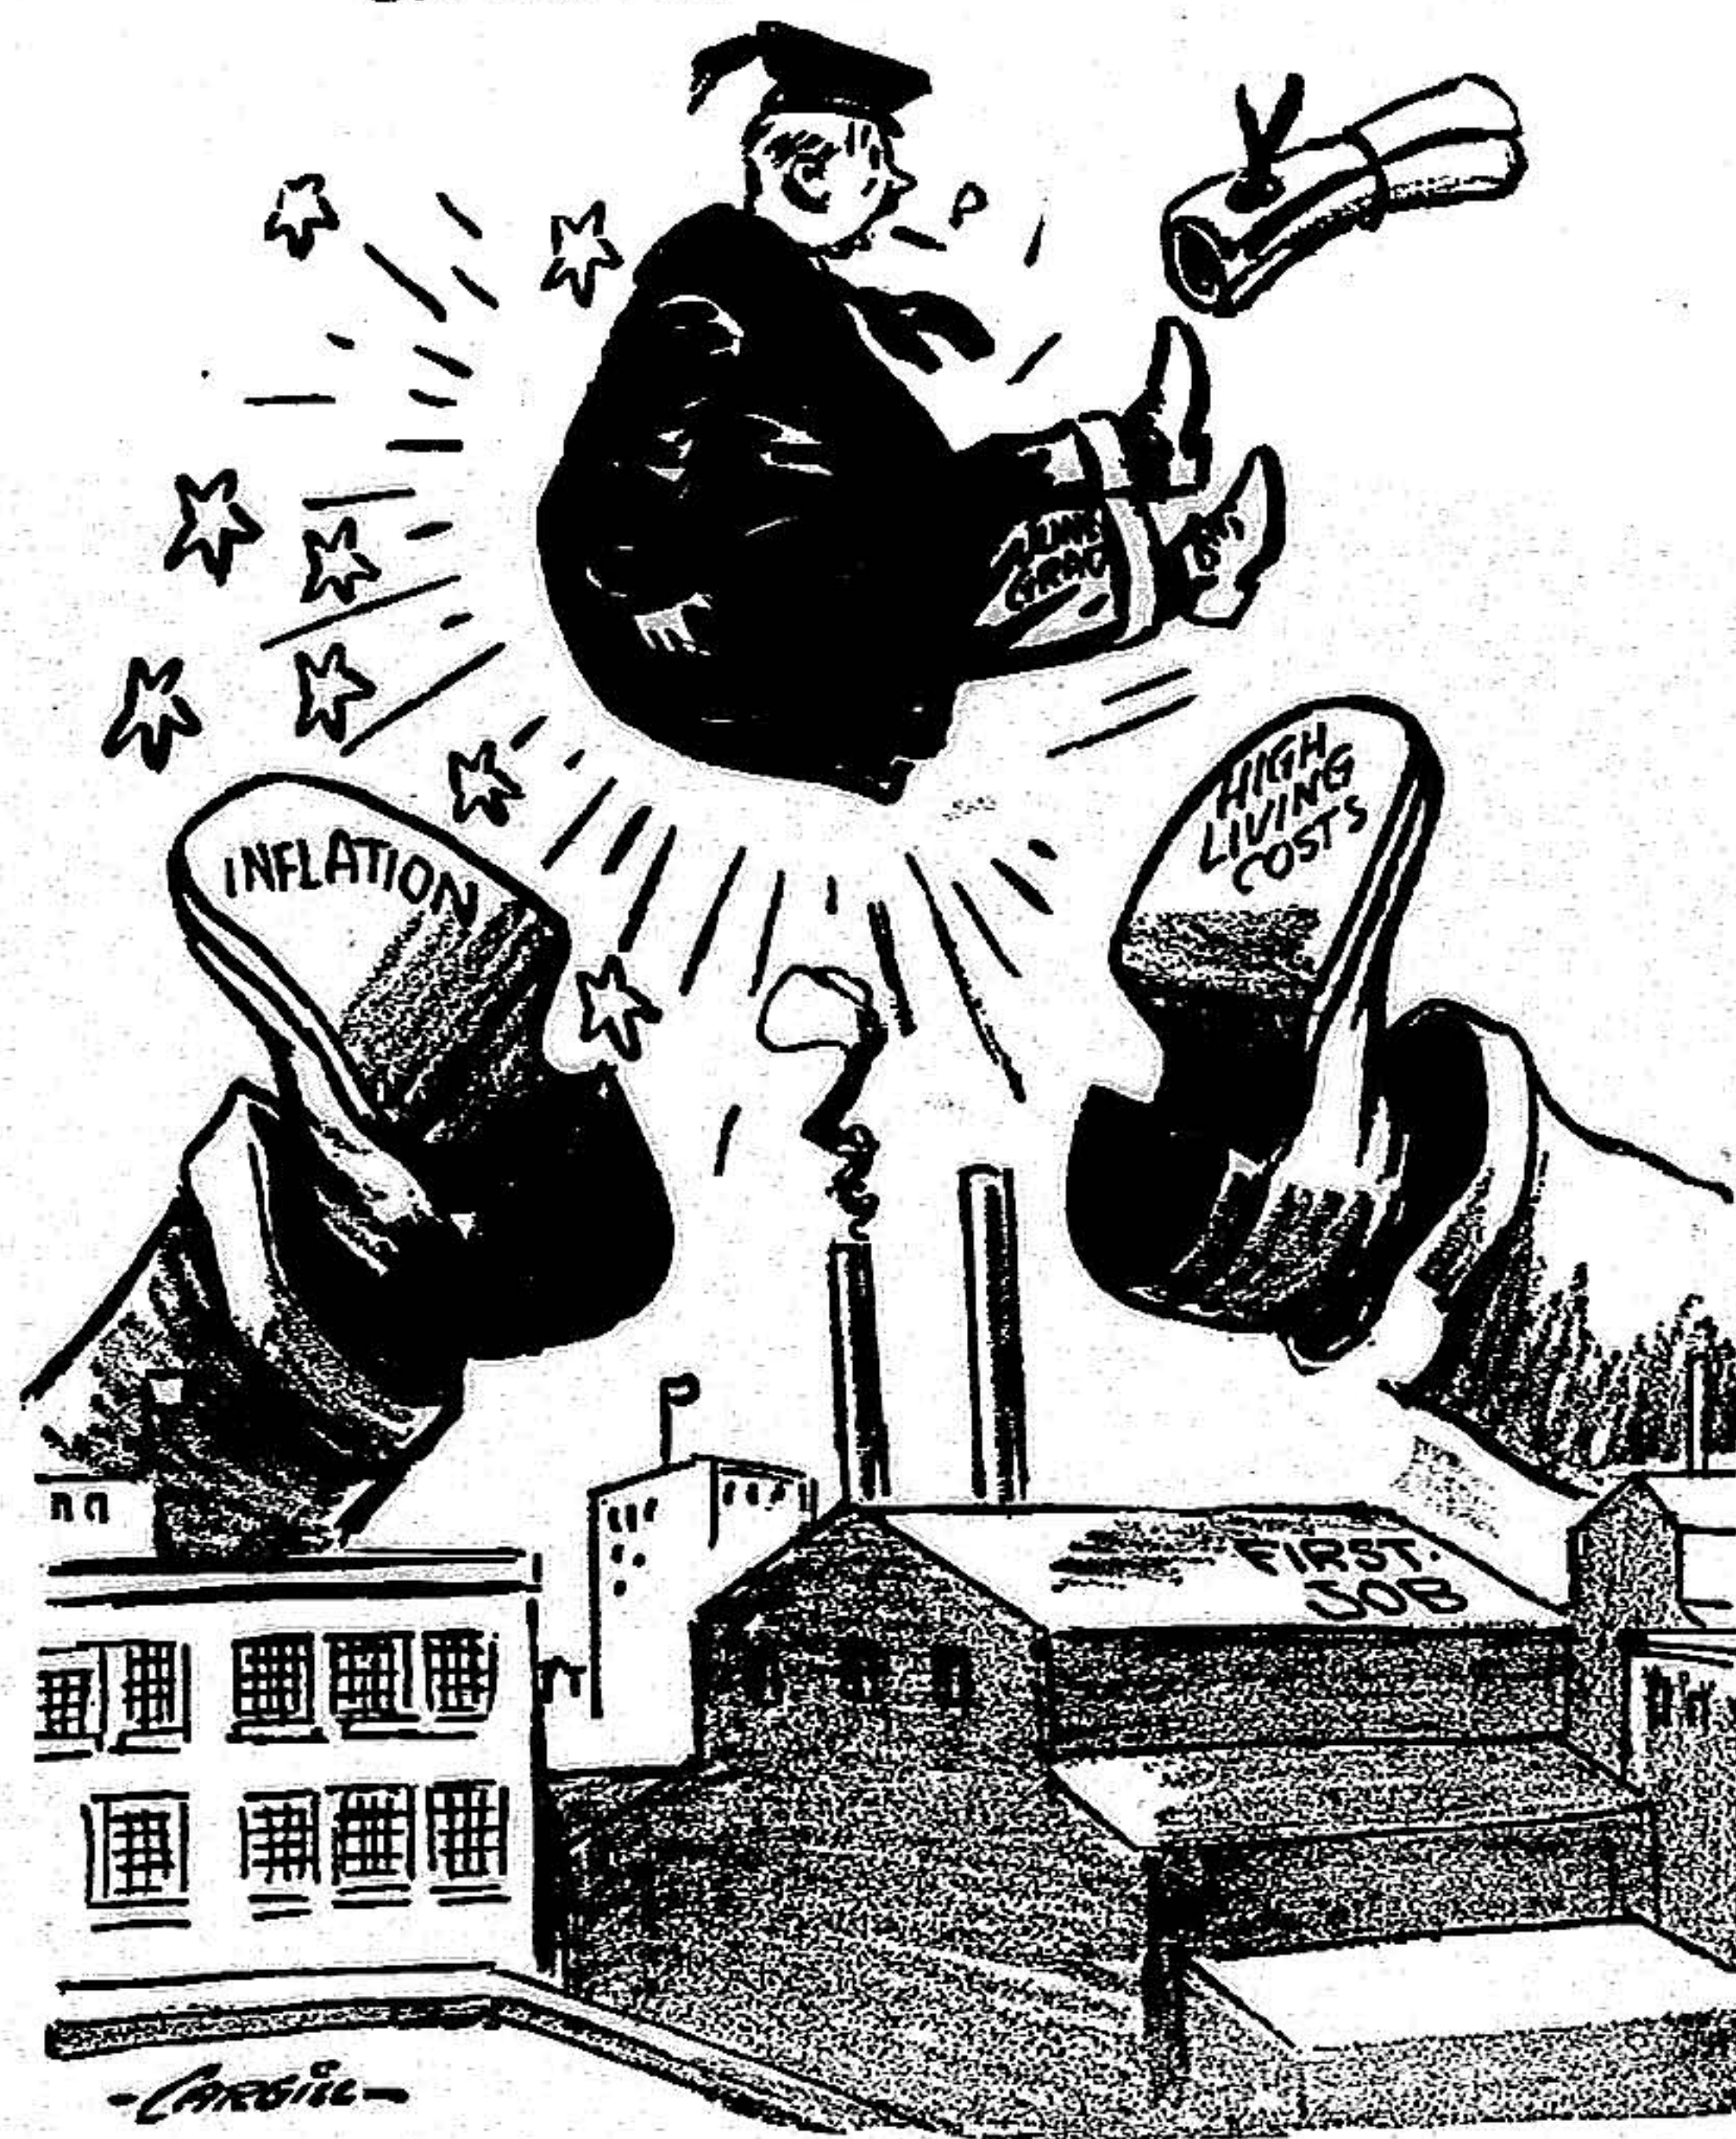

The magistrate's court in Newmarket is handling a growing number of charges arising out of possession of liquor by youths under the legal age limit of 21. It is a condition which is cause for growing concern. Does the fault lie with the laws, or lack of effective enforcement? Is it a symptom of lawlessness on the part of youth? Or is it representative of a general breakdown in public morality?

The latter seems the most reasonable. Disrespect for law is not confined to any one age group, although the number of youths in court attracts more attention than the appearance of their elders. And an increase in lawlessness has a precedent in the years which followed the First Great War. It is an unsettled age; increased lawlessness must be expected.

But to explain is not to condone. If this growing disrespect for law is to be checked, there must be a greater appreciation of individual responsibility to uphold the law. There must be more willingness to prevent conditions arising which will eventually lead to lawlessness. For example, two of the youths whose crimes resulted in large part from liquor, need never have appeared in court if they had been subject to proper concern by adults. In one case, a youth was taken into a beverage room by a relative. Befuddled by drink, he went on a shop-lifting spree. A lad of 16 steals a car and damages it after drinking. If properly supervised, the chances are he would not have been under compulsion to drink.

The Newmarket Home and School Association has taken practical steps to reduce the costs of schooling in Newmarket by setting up an exchange whereby school text books can be passed on from year to year instead of involving each year's graduates in the expense of a new set of books. However, such an arrangement can only be of benefit in proportion to the use that is made of it. The Home and School Association is providing a necessary service; by making use of it, its efficiency is increased.

ON THE PLAYING FIELDS OF "EATIN'"

Cat Nips

BY GINGER

Fiebug and a smitgapped blutterash were hauling a bread crumb along a crack in the floor under my desk the other day. It was a hot day and the bread crumb was heavy and soggy.

Fiebug is an ant that frequents the office and the other thing is a minute bug which we call Smig for short. Fiebug and Smig are a couple of homespun philosophers.

I got myself on the floor with my nose an inch away from them and listened to their conversation.

Fiebug, dripping with perspiration, spoke loftily. "Go to the ant, thou slug, to quote some old familiar saying, and latch onto this here bread crumb or you will starve next winter."

Smig is a hard surfaced little bug with a body like a basketball. He looks like "the world" in a political cartoon. "Frankly," said Smig, "I think you ants are an overworked bunch. All this slugging for a measly piece of bread crumb on a hot day is getting me down and makes me think I would rather be reading poems under a dandelion somewhere. Anyway, how are we gonna get this thing out of this here canyon?"

"The crack ends about two feet along this board and when we get it out we'll drag her over into the boss' pant cuff and get a free ride down to the press room," said Fiebug.

With renewed strength the two insects began hauling at a great speed. I put my paw in front of them and they hauled the crumb right up on top of it.

"A cat may look at a king," said Alice. "I've read that in some book but I don't remember where."—Lewis Carroll.

Then I sneaked over under the boss' chair and dumped ant crumb and smitgapped blutterash into his pant cuff. There were muffled voices and signs of a struggle in the pant cuff. Two wide eyes rose up and peered over the edge of the cuff in amazement.

"Well, whadda ya know," said Fiebug.

"Yah, whadda ya know."

"The life of an insect is most unpredictable."

"Yah, most."

They went off to the press room courtesy of the boss.

Tragedy struck with a chop this morning.

Miss Dish, our office girl, a talented girl when it comes to machines, has learned to operate the new electric paper cutter.

Miss Dish was trimming her fingernails on the machine and unknown to her, Euclid, the office rat, was reclining in an intellectual manner on some slip sheets on the other side of the blade. He was contemplating a mathematical problem.

Euclid always swishes his tail when he is thinking and as fate would have it, he swished at the same time the heavy cutting blade came down. To say the least, two inches of Euclid's tail went off with a chomp.

He wears a bandage on what's left of his rudder which appears something like a boxing glove. He also doesn't like Miss Dish anymore.

Miss Dish is in partial retirement. She is a sensitive woman.

We want them to feel that, when they have become naturalized, it is their responsibility, together with us, to make sure that we preserve our democratic system. In a few words, we wish to tell them that their opportunities are great in this Canada of ours."

When somebody down in the Nova Scotia Legislature demanded "free school books for all school students," Premier Angus Macdonald rose to deliver a few remarks which some may consider old-fashioned but which, we think, were pretty wholesome and worth repeating: "Our fathers and grandfathers didn't expect everything to be done for them by some government. The time has come when somebody must get out and work as they did."

"There are many in universities at present who would be better off digging coal in Inverness or growing apples in Annapolis Valley."

"Too Much Bossing" is the heading for the High River Times comment that one-third of the annual wage of the Canadian taxpayers goes to maintain government; gruesomely visualized the time will come when one half of the people will be in some form of government employment, subsisting on the wage-earning efforts of the other half and cracking the whip over them.

On Second Thought

By The Editor

We have been fortunate in the use of a car these past weeks and so have taken every opportunity to travel the back roads to see the pleasant country-side. Often the noise of our passage would flush from the roadside birds rare and exotic to our limited experience. Some we could identify, like the blue bird with its vivid coloring, or the canaries (or are they finches) which raced the car along the Mulock sideroad. Attempting to identify the others has become an engrossing pastime, and now, when we drive, there is a handbook at hand for clues to the unknown ones.

"Bird watching" seems to possess an almost universal appeal. The telling of our experiences to friends has evoked a similar enthusiasm and the pooling of "finds," so when we drive forth, we follow certain roads not only for the beauty of their surroundings but because certain birds have been sighted along these routes and we wish to duplicate the discovery.

The Newmarket public library has a book, "Flashing Wings" by Richard M. Saunders, M.A., Ph.D., who is, or was, a professor at the University of Toronto. Mr. Saunders, an enthusiastic bird watcher, records in his book his pleasure in his hobby in a manner which makes some of the most delightful reading of recent months. Incidentally, the author should be well known in this district by other bird-watchers; he has spent much time in Newmarket and Aurora district where he has many friends. Dr. Williams of Aurora is mentioned in the book, and Dr. Brereton of Barrie who is better known, perhaps, for his prowess on the bowling greens.

Throughout the book references to Aurora and Newmarket districts, and Pefferlaw creek are frequent. A large part of one chapter is devoted to a trip along Glenville sideroad to the marsh and of the birds sighted there. At the first crossroad after leaving Yonge St., the party sights a cuckoo, and after that, there is a never-ending variety of birds. The trip was taken the day after the Glenville pond dam went out, and the author describes their disappointment at the sight.

If we had not already become enthused over the possibilities of bird watching, Mr. Saunders' book would have converted us. But having experienced in small part some of the pleasures attending it, Mr. Saunders' account has sharpened an already sharp appetite for more.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

Rachel Haight's Recollections

This is one of a series of excerpts from the "Recollections" of Rachel Webb Haight, mother of Charles Haight, Toronto, and descendant of the Hughes family who settled where Aurora is now

HOUSEWORK THEN

The system of doing every kind of work indoors and out is changed. To begin with house-keeping—the manufacturing of wool and flax has been treated and the hum of the wheels is no more heard. In those days every housewife expected to do her own sewing with a needle, now it is done with a sewing machine which is found in almost every house, and the durability of material used in lieu of the home manufactured fabrics is so inferior; the requirements too are increased, with the demand in style of dressing that the assistance of the dressmaker is called in requisition in addition to the sewing machine.

The washing was done by rubbing on the washboard, a back-aching job where there was a large washing to do. That has given place to the washing machine, of which there are many kinds, and enables the housewife to do such work in less time and without the discomfort caused in the old way. But the labor problem did not exist in those days. The dasher churn, the main, perhaps the only one for a time, is almost obsolete, and the value of the dairy products is so much more profitable now. I have heard my mother say she thought she did well when she got a "York shilling" (12½ cents) for her butter, or a pound of butter for a pound of sugar. What would housekeepers think in this day of a similar compensation for their labor. When they receive from 20 to 25 cents per pound for butter a considerable part of the year and get five or more pounds of sugar for that sum. There were no country stores of much note and they were very remote from one another. Newmarket had a name very early in the opening of this part of Canada, and when my memory carries me back to first recollections of it the Hon. William Mulock's grandfather, John Cawthra, owned a store on the site which Danford Roche now owns, sold groceries and dry goods and in addition sold liquors, notwithstanding he was a man whose word was a guarantee for his goods and was held in high esteem; but there are probably as many goods changing hands in one day in the said town as he sold in a year. The house he occupied at that time was burned. I think some time in the 30's. Although living some four miles away, the fire being in the early evening, I remember the appearance which was enhanced by the flames from the liquor shooting high into the heavens. William Roe was postmaster for many years, also kept a few dry goods, the building he occupied stands yet at the foot of Main St. opposite the Cawthra site. He was also a man whose judgment was reversed in many matters. (This house has since been torn down). I think a man named Jebb had a small store for a time. Then Michael Empey opened a store on a larger scale, carried it on for a time and assigned, leaving many of his confiding friends a legacy of unsatisfactory quality. R. H. Smith opened a larger general store, whose progress and success will be remembered by many living in and around Newmarket. Although it can now boast of several good retail stores, several groceries and druggists, besides two extensive wooden manufacturing establishments, a town of churches, resident ministers and several lawyers, and a number of fine residences, it has not increased in population any where approaching that of many of more recent birth. In also prides itself on the efficiency of its water system, the electric light and the management of its corporate body altogether.

But we will leave Newmarket and dwell a little on the history of Aurora, somewhat of a rival, which had its rise long since the sun rose upon Newmarket. I remember well when Richard Macchell opened in a much less pretentious building than the one which now occupies the site and managed by James Whimster. R. Macchell first started business on a very small scale in his own home on the 4th concession of Whitthurch directly east of Aurora. It was said he carried his first instalment of goods in a pocket handkerchief. I remember some of his children bringing candles to school—then called bull's eyes, of his own manufacture; and from such beginnings founder of Aurora, first called Macchell's Corners, arose and he became a wealthy man, a pleasant long as honor was the qualification of the other, but there was a crisis reached if he felt his rights as a man were trampled on. The first trip I remember of making on a trading expedition was very soon after he opened his doors to custom. I was sent with a basket of eggs to exchange for some small commodity, and I remember, too, order had not yet taken her place. It was of R. Macchell father bought his first and only clock, for which he traded a fat cow. A good fat cow of the size their cows usually were would buy several clocks now, which would answer the purpose for a time, whether so durable is a question. That store so much nearer than Newmarket was my parent's trading place for some years until other merchants came in, then there was competition which diverted some custom to the newcomers. It was about the year 1853 the railroad from Toronto reached Newmarket. Before that time farmers drew all their produce to Toronto and I have heard my father say he has drawn oats there and sold it for 12½ cents per bushel. There was large flouring mills throughout the country, though small in comparison with those we read of now in our western country. The farmers had their wheat ground, the flour packed in barrels, then drawn to Toronto. There was less bulk to draw and the refuse furnished food for such as they chose to give it to. How different the labor of making the hay and harvesting the grain, which had to be all done by hand, now it is all done by machinery. It was a pleasant sight to see, perhaps a half dozen men go into a field of grass with their scythes, swinging them as if by tune, each one carried a stone for sharpening their scythe and were apt to perform that necessary act at one time making quite a musical sound. The spreading, to hasten the curing of the hay, was done with a pitch fork; when dry it was raked with a hand rake and placed in heaps ready to be drawn to the barn, then pitched with a fork and off the wagon. Then the field must be raked all over to gather the scattered hay. Now there is no use for the hand rake and but little for the fork. And for the grain the reapers went for with their sickles. It was common to see a number together. I think it was considered a fair day's work for a man to reap and bind a half acre in a day. When the land was free of stumps and the grain the reapers went forth with preferred, as a man would get over much more in a day.

Plan District Camp For Junior Farmers

Of special interest to all York County Junior Farmers is the recent announcement that the first district junior farmer camp in Ontario embracing the counties of York, South Simcoe and North Simcoe will be held the first week in September at Camp Ahshunyoong on Lake Simcoe. This special event is the outcome of a suggestion by the district director, Lois Graham, Highland Creek, and a meeting of junior farmer executives for the three counties recently in Newmarket.

This camp is separate from the Ontario Junior Farmer Camp the following week and will give all local clubs in the county representation on an even basis of boys and girls. York is asked to send 28 delegates. The camp will be designed to bring out leadership in young people, to train them for present and future work and to once again bring to them another opportunity generally considered as lacking in the country. It is another step in the ever-growing advancement of junior farmer work.

The representatives must be single and be between the ages of 18 and 25. A camp committee to discuss and deal with the entire organization of the camp has been set up and the York officials on that committee are Lois Graham, Highland Creek, Orphie Orr, Maple, and Bruce Snider, Maple. W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative, is the silent partner and guiding hand in the entire set-up, while Dick Hilliard, junior fieldman, offers suggestions and criticisms based on the experience of last year's provincial camp.

During the next few weeks, local clubs will be choosing their delegates and all juniors will be anxious to see who will be the lucky and deserving persons.

What Removal

of Sales Tax Means

(Orillia News-Letter)

Canadian Grocer has delayed further into exact effects re- moval of sales tax would have on the trade and the consumer and has found that:

Consumer to benefit slightly on small unit purchases — in some scarcely at all.
Selling to consumers depends on unit costs . . . on 10c item to wholesaler reduction scarcely possible unless one buys more than one item.

If price to wholesalers is from 12 to 20c saving is approximat- 1c.
If price to wholesaler is say 22 to 30c, consumer would pay maybe 2c less . . . if above 35, perhaps 3c, etc.

On a bulk biscuit line with a 20c wholesale cost tax has been 10c, consumer would save at least 1c lb.

Take bacon: if packer's price is 60c lb., sales tax has been 4.8c, making a total of 64.8c to dealer . . . 20 percent on selling minus retail price of 81c . . . minus tax 20 percent on selling would be 75c or a saving of 6c . . . If packer's price is 50c con- sumer might save up to 5c lb.

Young Hopefuls

By DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Virginia, a 12-year-old who because of her delicate health, has had to miss considerable school, is able to keep pace with her classmates by periodically taking advantage of the transient section of the opportunity class. It isn't easy for a pupil to catch up with work missed during an absence. Even though the hope- work can be brought up to date the class work which is espe- cially important in some subjects is lost.

In Virginia's instance, her ab- sences during each school term were more numerous and of longer duration than those of the average pupil. During the first few years of school she was able, with help received at home, to make passing grades despite many absences. However, in the fifth grade, the school work be- came more complicated and her parental tutorage was not ade- quate.

Virginia's work in some sub- jects was falling behind the standards of which she was capable. She became discourag- ed and the strain of writing mid- term examination papers that fifth year proved too much for her. She failed completely in two subjects; arithmetic and grammar. As evidenced by these failures, Virginia needed special help in these subjects. Some place along the line, she had missed some basic principles in these two important subjects.

Unless Virginia received some special help, she would fall fur- ther and further behind in her school work and either fail to pass with her classmates at the end of the term or else manage to pass though not qualified to undertake more advanced work.

Fortunately, an opportunity class was included in the school system and Virginia was assigned to it. After two months of special help, Virginia was ready to return to her own grade and qualified to compete with her classmates. Since that first sat- isfactory experience in the op- portunity class, Virginia has re- turned to it after two lengthy illnesses—before returning to her regular classroom.

If it were not for the transient action of the opportunity class, Virginia would be doomed to failure scholastically, despite her higher than average I.Q. (intel- ligence quotient) and M.A. (men- tal age rating).

Three Million Want Higher Pay

(Fort Erie Times-Review)

There are apparently 3 mil- lion workers in England today who firmly disagree with the Labor Government. The 3 mil- lion want higher pay and the Atlee government says they can't have it.

Britain's socialists, like Cana- da's C.C.F. socialists, were at one time greatly favored by the working class because they re- peatedly explained that more and more wages could easily be paid by simply making plans in- stead of money.

At that time, the Socialists were not in power, and were free to think up all the theories they liked, and win support by talking arrant nonsense.

Once in power, however, Atlee and his cohorts were up against facts instead of theories. Experience proved a harsh but effective teacher. They recently came to the sad realization that freezing profits means freezing wages too. That was hard to take. As facts are often harder to accept than idle promises, Britain's workers seem unwill- ing to accept it. Thirty-seven trade unions, representing three million workers, have voted to defy the government and de- mand wage increases.

The Atlee government is in an awkward position. The demand for more wages is precisely the sort of thing they always said was quite justified. Wiser now, they know they were wrong. They have learned some econ- omic laws.

Canadians would be wise to let the C.C.F., which still preaches something-for-nothing, remain ignorant. Electing a C.C.F. gov- ernment would educate the C.C.F., as electing a Labor Gov- ernment in England has edu- cated the British Labor party. The chaos and wasted effort involv- ed, makes it a mighty expen- sive education.

Rhymed Farewell Given Minister's Wife

The following is an address read to Mrs. W. H. Burgess on the occasion of a farewell party by the Cheerio Club when she was presented with a cup and saucer:

Since you and your husband are going to go we, the Cheerio group, are sorry it is so. You have always helped out with a trick or game. Without you our meetings won't seem quite the same. When you are retired and living in town, if you ever feel blue and rather let down, just think of us girls and our names recall. We'll mention some here but we can't include all. There's Mrs. Price, so faithful and true, Vera, our presi- dent, always cheerful, not blue; Anna, our secretary who from year to year reads the minutes in a voice calm and clear; there's Irene who sings and Mary who plays, they lead in the singing of our hymns and lays; there's Marguerite Walsh so short and so stout, and Olive Tinsdale always bustling about; Mildred, Mina, Ida, each was a Dike; there's Gladys and Floss; other sisters we like: Iva and Eva who are like as two peas; Irma and Pearl always busy as bees; there's Bertha who is our flower grower and Edna a very fine smoker and sewer; Iola, one of the best teachers in town. She has taught several years and developed a frown. We always find a helper in Mary Brooks, and Alice, too, who is fond of books; there's Hattie and Mary, always pleasant to meet, and Mildred McFarland, so trim and so neat. Many others there are, Marion, Mildred, Marie, Dorothy, Violet, Iris, Nora and Dee. There are some members and there are others, too, but we all think kind- ly of Mr. Burgess and you. And we hope some day you will re- turn to our town, buy a home here and with us settle down. We would like to see some more of your tricks—we never did guess the one with the sticks. This poem sounds flippant as though we didn't care, but really we're serious and this is our prayer: That God bless you and give you peace, and all through your life may joy never cease.

C.N.E. Models Show How Tax Dollar Spent

The taxpayer who visits the CNE this year will see at a glance what is done with the tax dollar for education in Denmark, Sweden, Great Britain, the United States and in four of the Canadian provinces. Scale mod- els of some of the most modern school buildings in the world, showing the cost to the taxpay- er, will be on display during the Ex at Teen Town in the Coli- seum.

En route at present is a model of the famed school at Ruislip, 18 miles from London, England, considered by some experts to be the best planned school ever built. Equipped with a cafeteria, it supplies each child with two-thirds of his necessary food re- quirements, part of the cost borne by the municipality. Denmark is sending one model, as is Swe- den and the United States. Cana- dian provinces to be represented are British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Ontario.

British Columbia is sending two models and Ontario is enter- ing three. One of the Ontario models, that of the Hanna Mem- orial school at Sarnia, was built during the past two months by nine third-year students at Western Technical school, Toronto, all pupils of K. G. Marint. The Forest Hill Collegiate, now in the process of construction and the Fisher Hill collegiate, now in the process of construction and the Fisher Park schools in Ottawa will also be seen in model form. The Sarnia school is considered one of the most modern in East- ern Canada.

The bride is a graduate of Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, and the Yale University School of Nursing. She and the groom are part of a team doing rehabilitation and relief work in Pakistan, Afghanistan and Kashmir, under the sponsorship of the English Friends' Service Unit.

The wedding was conducted by Dr. James C. Mazzy of the United Church of Northern India, and took place at the home of friends. NUPTIALS JULY 3

A quiet wedding took place on Saturday, July 3, in the chapel of St. Paul's Anglican church when Helen Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Fines, became the bride of George Muir Milligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Milligan, Newmarket. Rev. J. T. Rhodes officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white jersey with shoulder-length veil and carried a nosegay of red roses. Miss May Heath, Aurora, the bridesmaid, wore a dress of powder blue jersey and carried a nosegay of pink roses. Mr. John McTavish was best man.

The reception was held at the Legion Hall. The bride's mother received in a flowered grey and blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The groom's mother wore a grey dress with navy accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The happy couple left for a honeymoon trip through the Thousand Islands. The bride travelled in a grey flannel suit with white accessories and rose topper. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Milligan will reside in Toronto.

FEATHERED
BOARDERS

I have a boarding house for birds, and like the story book versions of boarding houses, I have temperamental guests, romantic, quarrelsome, nagging and disagreeable guests, but also radiant, happy and gentle ones. The winter guests differ from those who throng my dining-room under the great pine at the present time. The cold weather seems to sharpen both their appetites and their tempers and they quarrel about their places at the table and about the desirability of a brown crust over a white one. If their neighbor has a bit of fat well maybe that tastes better than the grain they drove him away from in the first place.

The Jay family is the noisiest and most quarrelsome, but one forgives them much when in their vivid blue and grey robes with black accessories, they hop round their white tablecloth, talking cheerfully if the meal is plentiful and exactly what they like, but quarrel violently and casting baleful glances at intruders if my larder has not furnished them with a meal to their taste.

The chickadees just chuckle at all this fuss and fury as they cling to the tree trunks and feast on bits of fat cached there. But the Jays have their sober moods too — their romances, and their tragedies. The Mr. and Mrs. Jay I am thinking of were the nicest of their large connection. They were on time for their meals, they ate together placidly, without quarrelling or chasing, and then were off on their own affairs until the "come-and-get-it" call was heard again. Then tragedy. One morning I noticed that Mrs. Jay made no effort to eat, but sat beside her husband looking dull and miserable. He would stop eating and look at her and make little remarks, but to no effect. Then he'd fly away a piece and look back but she never moved. Time after time he came back and even dragged a bit of crust over to her. While he was away I watched that nothing molested her and took out some bread and milk. She paid attention neither to me nor to the food. When evening came, Jay became more insistent, running a little piece and coming back. In some way he coaxed her into the orchard and there she died.

The Worriers

Then like every boarding house we have the fussers — always worried about themselves or somebody else. Mr. and Mrs. Wren, of whom I speak, occupy a cabin near the dining-room and are regular songsters. They inquire into the business of every creature, bird, beast or human who passes their door, and hurl insults at each corner, and I often think, when no outsider is there to abuse, they take it out on each other. But they're faithful to each other and sometimes they burst into an ecstatic song — a little, boastful, a bit gleeful, and a sort of tonic when one is dull.

Now let me give you an introduction to the most aristocratic and yet the gentlest and sweetest of our boarders — Mr. and Mrs. Baltimore Oriole. Their orange and black costumes look as exquisite against the green of tree and grass as the Jay's blue and black against the snow.

The Peacemakers

I call them the peacemakers among the boarders. They will take their places beside the noisy Jays or among the sparrow family with equal ease and grace. They wear their little black hoods with such an air and yet with such a friendly bearing that

MARY DICEMAN WEDS I. H. WALSH

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Diceman, on June 26 when their daughter, Mary Kathleen, was united in marriage to Ivor Herbert Walsh, Surrey, England. The house was beautifully decorated with peonies and delphiniums. Rev. Douglas Davies, Stouffville, officiated under an arch with silver wedding bells. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gownned in white satin and lace with fingertip veil falling from a tiara. She carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath and wore the groom's gift, a wrist watch. She was attended by her sister, Miss Catharine Diceman, who wore a blue sheer gown and carried a bouquet of red roses and baby's breath. The groom was supported by Mr. Herbert Logan and the wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Edith Diceman.

The bride's mother received in a gown of blue crepe and corsage of red roses. After the reception the happy couple left for Toronto. They will reside at Concord.

you feel no one would dare to harm them. Mr. Oriole is a real stage Romeo — you can hear him call from his leafy perch to his lady in her green balcony, "here, here," and catch her coquettish echo.

Then there are the members of an opera troupe stationed here. The artists are the goldfinch family, the chubbs, the song sparrows. The gentlemen goldfinches in their yellow and black stage dress, the ladies in a more sober hue, while the chorus have to be content with rather plain brown suits. When a humming accompaniment is needed, they call in the humming bird — and he flits on the stage in all the beauty of his iridescent glory, putting even the goldfinches in the shade.

Sometimes they introduce a guest artist, as when a warbler or a ruby-crowned kinglet visits Ingleside and besides partaking of hospitality, renders a solo or two.

And no troupe is complete without a bit of vaudeville and here the cat-bird family, the chickadees and the nuthatches can come into their own, for the cat-birds mimic the other performers to their very faces, while the chickadees perform acrobatic stunts and nuthatches walk upside down.

Then we have some sporting guests — Mr. and Mrs. Robin and the Flycatcher family. They talk of sport incessantly, and Mr. and Mrs. Robin have the patience and also quickness of fishermen and hunters as they watch with eagle eyes, then pounce and drag large and reluctant worms from their dug-outs. The flycatchers are airmen who swoop and swerve and overtake their prey.

We have a world in miniature in our boarding house — love, hate, humor, amusement, joy, sorrow, beauty and ugliness. But all sing matins and evensong to their great Creator.

Homemakers' Exchange

Summertime demands cool, crisp food and all types of salads fit into this picture. Some are tossed, some jellied, and others are carefully arranged on attractive green backgrounds of lettuce, cress or spinach. Thorough drying and crisping of all raw ingredients will prevent a damp, tired-looking salad. Raw vegetables should be cut smaller than cooked ones or may be coarsely grated. Salad greens should be torn or broken rather than cut. Don't cut ingredients in pieces so small that they lose their identity, but do have them small enough so that they are not difficult to eat.

Onion and garlic should be used with great discretion. When meat, cooked vegetables or fish are used, the whole salad is given a lift if these ingredients are marinated separately in a little French dressing for an hour or so before combined with the other ingredients. The mixing of salad calls for a light hand and should be done by tossing with two forks, not by stirring with a spoon which breaks up or mashes the ingredients.

MEDLEY SALAD
1 Tomato, sliced, or 1/2 cup drained canned tomatoes
1 Cup cooked beets (whole)
1 Cup fresh cooked or canned peas
1 Cup radish slices
1 Cup whole green beans (cooked)
1 Head lettuce
1 Bunch watercress
French dressing

Arrange vegetables in individual groups, separating by lettuce leaves. Fill centre with watercress and serve with French dressing. Serves six.

COTTAGE CHEESE STRAWBERRY SALAD

2 Tsp. gelatine
2 Tbsp. cold water
1 Tbsp. salad dressing
2 Cups cottage cheese
2 Cups hulled strawberries
Soak gelatine in cold water. Dissolve over hot water and add to salad dressing. Mix with cheese. Cut berries in half and fold in. Pour into a wet mould, chill until firm. Turn out on crisp greens. Serve with additional salad dressing. Serves six.

King Family Picnic At Mount Albert Park

The King family picnic was held again in Mount Albert on July 1 in the park. Eighty-seven sat down to supper. Mrs. Art King was returned as president; Vera Weller for the games and sports; Mrs. Fred King on the ice cream committee, which is always enjoyed by all. The prizes were donated by Dora King and the winners were Mrs. C. Jordan, Mount Albert, for the oldest one in the family; Pat King (Morley's baby) for the youngest; Vera Weller, in the bean jar guess. The horse shoe game was well played and won by Vern Kellington. Reg. McIntosh, Fred and Morley King were good sports in their defeat. Herb Jordan, N.Y., put on a treasure hunt and O. Patterson was the winner. The prize was hidden early in the afternoon, so no one knew where it was. Those who did not go missed a pleasant get-together. Next year the reunion will be held July 1 at the same place.

The Dikes also held their picnic the same day. Many thanks to Mount Albert for the use of the park, and tables and benches.

King Legion Receives Charter

King — "Your charter is the only visible legal identity you have, but your branch is known now and will be known better still in the future, by your service to those veterans and their families to whom you are directly obligated and by your service to the community," said Edward S. Evans, president, Ontario command, Canadian Legion. "Across Canada the prestige of the Canadian Legion grows day by day, because those charged with authority, in federal, provincial and municipal governments know the great service work we do and that our efforts are directed towards the welfare of the whole country. For every piece of beneficial legislation on the statute books in regards to the veteran you'll find a Legion brief tabled before it became legislation."

Mr. Evans was speaking at the charter and ladies' night of Branch 438, King, in Maple

Community Hall recently when he presented the charter to president G. A. McGinnis, who pledged the branch to uphold Legion traditions and to further the best interests of the entire district.

The event was attended by over 100, saw representatives present from Aurora, Newmarket, Mount Albert, Richmond Hill and Woodbridge branches. Head table guests included: Major Lex Mackenzie, M.P.P., Deputy Reeve Norman McMurphy, King; Deputy Reeve John Host-rawser, Vaughan; T. A. M. Hul-se, third vice pres., Ontario command; Jack Payne, dist. deputy commander, Toronto, zone commander H. A. Phelps and the senior officers of the King branch. Pipers piped the assembly into the dinner, the buglers from Aurora high school sounded Last Post and Reveille. The Cheerio Variety entertainers provided a splendid floor show following the dinner.

Newmarket Horticultural Society

Lawn: To kill weeds and dandelions in the lawn, put a few drops of sulphuric acid on an ice pick or other sharp instrument and stick into the heart of the plant. This proves fatal and they will not come up again.

A simple treatment for the control of brown patch in the lawn is to heavily dress the lawn with wood ashes. This seems to effectively check the fungus causing the trouble.

When winter killing occurs, making the lawn patchy, this may be quickly remedied by loosening the soil of the killed areas and sowing some more seed, which may be raked in and then covered with sifted loam and rolled.

Mildew: Mildew spreads rapidly upon plants subjected to too much shade or too little air circulation, and is most prevalent when hot days are followed by cool night. Allowing plants to be wet through the night because of sprinkling, will court mildew. Dust the plants with sulphur in morning when dew is on them. The sun vaporizes the sulphur and kills the spores of the mildew.

To overcome the effect of mildew on the lower leaves of phlox, roses and other plants, spray with bordeaux mixture or dust with powdered sulphur when the dew is upon the leaves. The sulphur may be shaken from cheesecloth bags or an ordinary salt shaker.

In early spring all dead leaves and stalks should be cleaned from around hollyhocks, delphiniums and peonies, when uncovered, and the new growth should be sprayed with bordeaux mixture.

Peony: Peony blight infects stems, leaves and buds and is first noticed as a rot on the stems, causing them to wilt when four to eight inches high. Shoots are often attacked below ground, causing them to wilt and die.

The control of peony blight is difficult, particularly if the season is wet. All old leaves, dead stalks and stubble right down to the permanent live root stalk should be taken away and burned in late fall. Watch the growing plant carefully and if disease appears, remove and burn all infected parts; all old flowers likewise should be destroyed. Spraying with bordeaux mixture will help. Make the first application shortly after the leaves appear above ground and repeat at frequent intervals.

Red spider: This is a small mite and is one of the most common pests in the garden. It can be controlled by spraying the plants with water, thoroughly wetting the underside of the leaves. Sulphur dusted on the plants is also advised.

Rust: The "rust" disease which attacks outdoor flowers such as snapdragons and hollyhock can be controlled by keeping the plants thoroughly dusted with sulphur. The spores of the fungi which cause these diseases are killed when they come in contact with sulphur on the plants, thus preventing infection. Sulphur dusts may also be used as a treatment for the control of black spot and mildew on roses.

Snails and slugs: These molluscs are nocturnal in habit, hiding during the day beneath stones, clods of earth, etc. They come out to feed in the evening. An excellent remedy is to broadcast air-slaked lime over the soil, before nightfall. This adheres to their bodies and soon kills them.

Spray to protect plants from animals: Spray the flowers, shrubs, etc., with a dilute nicotine sulphate spray. Then cats and dogs will avoid them. The spray is harmless to plants but appears to be offensive to animals. It is the spray, of course, which is used to control sucking insects on plants of all kinds. Cats and dogs have a keener sense of smell than human beings, and can smell the spray even when applied so thinly that people are unaware of its presence. Commercial preparations usually contain 40 percent nicotine sulphate and should be used at the rate of one and a half teaspoons to one gallon of water. The spray evaporates and should be renewed after rains, or about every two weeks in ordinary weather.

Tarnished plant bug: This common plant bug is frequently destructive to the buds of dahlia, zinnia and other flowering plants. Dust mixtures applied by means of a hand blower are of value. Hydrated lime when dusted on is proving beneficial.

Thrips: The gladiolus thrips is the most serious pest and calls for immediate and community action. The first step is treating the corns before planting. Dissolve one ounce of corrosive sublimate in six gallons of water in a wooden container. Peel the corns and soak them for a period of three hours, the liquid being kept at a temperature of about 70 degrees. The corns may be planted directly after being treated.

BELHAVEN

July 1 — Woods Bros. of Belhaven are digging the well for the community hall here. They also had a similar job at Keswick manse.

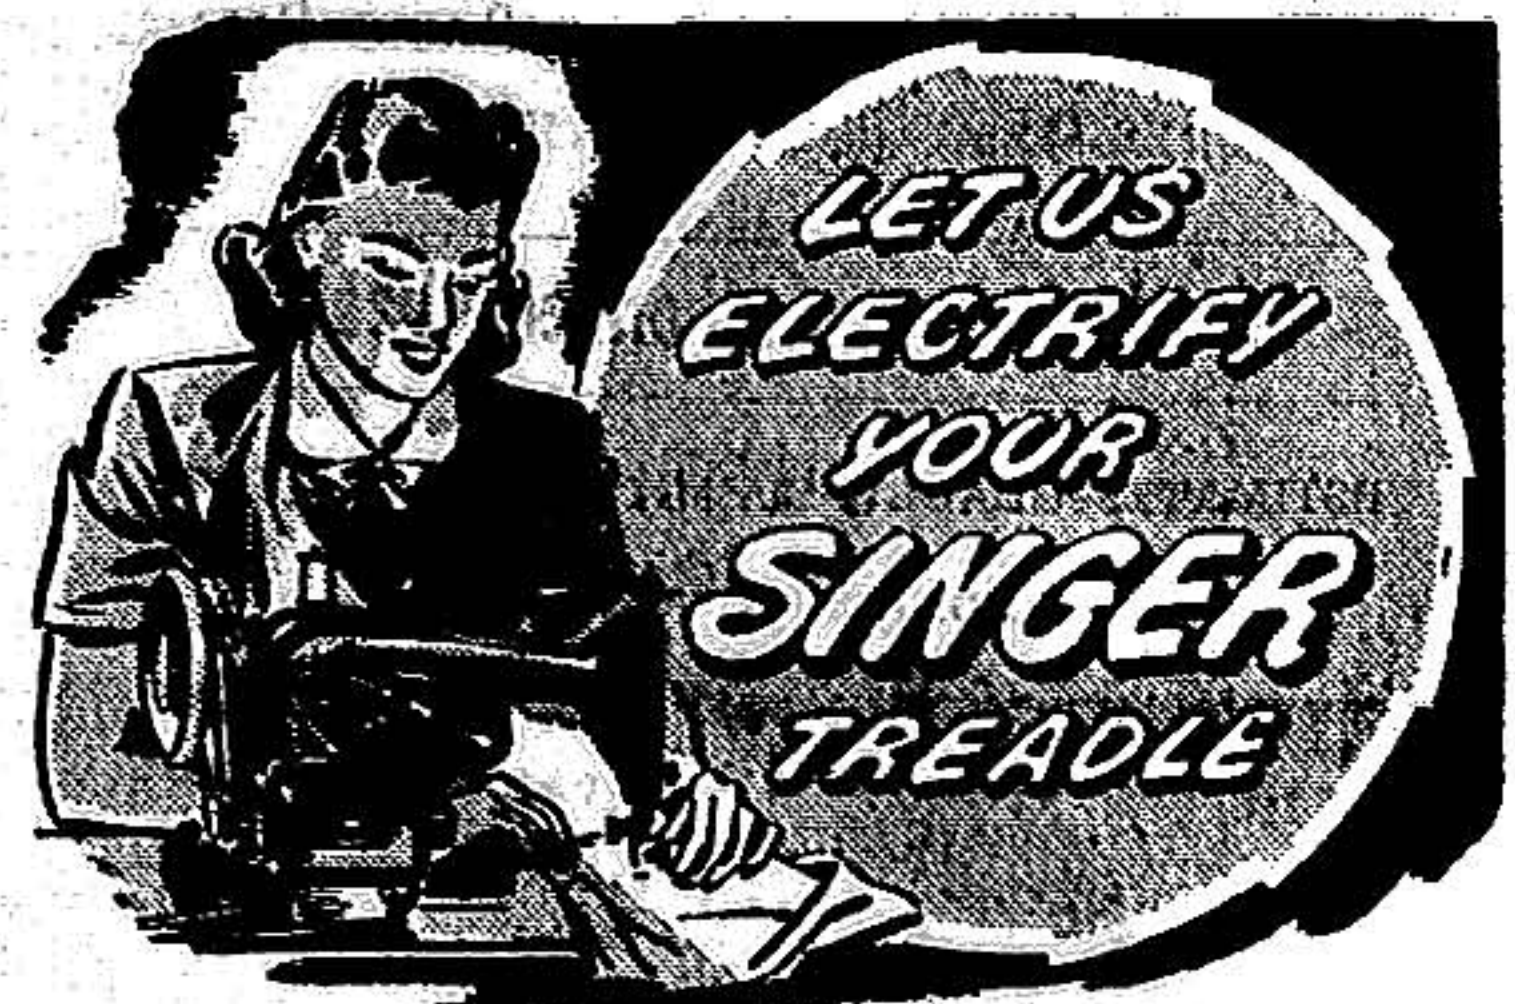

Mr. Cecil Prosser and Mrs. Charles Anderson, with Harry Anderson of Virginia, Ont., motored to Hebron, Ind., to attend a wedding, the bride being the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Prosser.

Belhaven public school children, accompanied by their teacher, Miss Myrtle Stiles, did themselves honor and also their leader, Mrs. Angus Cowleson, when they assisted in several choral selections with public school children from Keswick, Roche's Point and Jersey in the Keswick United church last Sunday.

Improvements have been made to our Belhaven stores. Mr. David Davidson has had extensive work done on his dwelling house and also had plate-glass windows put in the front of the store, which makes the place look very attractive.

The Toronto District of Free Methodist church camp meeting will be held in Pine Orchard July 9 to 18. Rev. Warren L. Chase of Youngville, Penn., will be the special evangelist, assisted by the district and visiting ministers.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

In our daily lives all of us must mingle and perhaps work with people whom we do not like. And this presents a problem which everyone should recognize and attempt to solve.

Obviously we cannot "hate these people off the earth". We must somehow adjust ourselves to associating with them.

"It takes all kinds to make a world." And, after all, there are bound to be some people who do not like us. So we should try to develop a spirit of tolerance.

More important, we should try to conceal our dislikes. For when we show our feelings, it merely makes matters worse.

On the other hand, if you make even a little effort to be friendly and courteous towards those who "rub you the wrong way", it will make your relationships with them more pleasant. And eventually it may even lead to genuine friendships.

For another aid to happier, more successful living, try to cultivate peace of mind in every possible way—especially financially. Life insurance offers the most dependable and effective way to achieve this for yourself and your family.

Service Held At Kettleby Cenotaph

A very impressive and well attended ceremony followed the annual decoration service on Sunday afternoon at the cenotaph when the local veterans, led by King Legion, marched to the cenotaph to honor the memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice in the first World War and the recent one. The names of the boys of the past war who fall in action have just been inscribed by the Kettleby Women's Institute and were fittingly unveiled by Eric Bowler whose brother gave his life and whose name, along with

Roy Benjamin and Daniel Case, were there. Following the singing of the hymn, "Abide With Me," suitable words were given by Rev. Chas. E. Cragg and Rev. F. V. Abbott of United and Anglican churches. Wreaths were placed for Gnr. Roy E. Benjamin, Age 27, by his mother, Mrs. E. Benjamin; Flight Officer William H. Bowler, age 29, by his mother, Mrs. A. Bowler; Tpr. Daniel A. Case, died of wounds from the first World War, by his widow. Last Post was sounded by Donald Watson of Aurora.

UNION ST.

Life in China

Mrs. F. House, Toronto, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Union Street Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. B. Deavitt on Wednesday evening, June 30. Mrs. House has recently returned from China where she spent 14 months working for U.N.R.R.A. on the rehabilitation of agriculture. She told of the life of the average Chinese farm woman. She said only about ten percent of the Chinese people are educated and the majority of Chinese children start to work at the age of eight to ten years. Mrs. House spoke briefly on her travels through India and Italy. She also had an interesting display of Chinese souvenirs.

Mrs. Archie Sedore gave a paper on the early days of Keswick and Roche's Point. Keswick was formerly called Medina. The Union Street ladies have been asked to assist at the Queensville sports day on Saturday, Aug. 14, and a committee has been named for this purpose. Mrs. Lillian Johnston was the recipient of a lovely picture presented to her by the institute members in recognition of her work as president for the past two years. Mrs. A. Sedore read the address and Mrs. Violet Micks made the presentation. A hearty sing-song concluded the program and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. E. Payne, Mrs. J. Bertolin and Mrs. W. Moulds.

McComb's Homer Settles The Issue

By GEORGE HASKETT, JR.

To paraphrase an old refrain—pitcher wins his own game. That's just what "Joint" McComb did Tuesday at the S.S. school grounds. It was tied at three all. McComb stepped in and bashed out a booming homer to break the deadlock. The victim of this feat was "Red" Mitchell, Mount Albert's pitching ace. Newmarket Vets and Mount Albert, current leaders of the Lake Simcoe circuit, staged an exhibition tilt for the holiday fans and it was one of the best games seen at the park this season.

Now you might ask, how did McComb grab the spotlight with his game winning homer? Well, here's the glad tidings. The Vets got away on the right foot with two counters in the first. The Mount laddies evened it up in the fourth with two and went to

Sweet Revenge For Town Ladies

Newmarket ladies got sweet revenge for a recent home defeat, dished out to them by Barrie Valley's. Valley's, in their previous visit, walked away with a 4-3 triumph. This time Newmarket turned the tables to come up with a 4-3 win.

The Courtney-VanZant lassies rang up all their runs in the first three frames. They pushed over two in the first, Phil Osborne and Mary Ellen McInnis scoring on Edna McGrath's single. They chalked up another in the second, Mary Osborne counting on sister Phil's double. Centre fielder Lo's Manning came around to the pay station with what proved to be the winner in the third, when the Valley infield committed a couple of fumbles.

So far as the visitors went, they counted twice in the second and added a single in the fifth. Editt Dow tossed a good game for the home forces, while Dot Miller gave out with a fine pitching chore for the visiting nine.

Phil Osborne and Mary Ellen McInnis led the hitters with two each.

The fans got their money worth as both squads came up with a couple of fielding games. Mary Arnold (VanZant) marked her

WRESTLING AT RICH. HILL

Red Garner, from Richvale and "Spider" Shakleton, Hamilton, will meet in the ring at the professional wrestling match to be held at Richmond Hill arena, 8.30 p.m., July 20. The wrestling will be under the sponsorship of the East Vaughan Ratepayers association.

TAKES CLASS WIN

E Knoxe, owned by Lady Eaton and trained at Eaton Hall farm, made a great showing at Lindsay Horse Show on Saturday. The yearling hunter took its class and then a special open class.

return to the first base job with a fast double play in the sixth to stop a threatened rally by the visitors.

Valley's, Barrie: M. Wood, 1b; E. Keys, cf; H. Wright, rf; M. Longhurst, c; R. Jones, ss; D. Goring, 3b; P. Moody, 1b; D. Miller, p; R. Lennox, 2b. Umpire, G. Hudson.

Prominent Cyclist Benville Retires

Bob Benville, Newmarket's contribution to the cycling world, is retiring from the sport. Says Bob: "It is becoming too much of a strain, to work on your feet all day then spend the nights training. I had a lot of fun, collected a satisfying number of prizes, but now it is becoming too big a job to work and train at the same time."

Mrs. Benville, Bob's staunchest rooter, is sorry to see him retire, but "she'll be glad to see me around the house more often," says Bob.

Bob had some tough luck in Oshawa where he entered the Olympic trials. After missing the qualifying time by four or five seconds in 2,000 metre trials, he had a bad spill at the 20-mile mark in the distance event and smashed his bike. He had to withdraw from the race on doctor's orders, an added insult to injury because he was confident of making a good showing.

The following week Bob placed in the one-mile heat for the Canadian championships but lost out in the finals. He gave up his entry in the five and ten mile races because of his injuries of the previous week.

"It's a grand sport and it's treated me well," says Bob. "You meet a fine bunch of sportsmen and I am sorry to leave their ranks."

Stouffville Takes 7-1 Win From Aurora

Stouffville intermediates took a 7-1 verdict over Aurora juniors on Monday night. Earl Cook, ex-international leaguer, started for Stouffville and retired in the fourth with a 6-0 lead. Youthful "Porky" Schell took over from Cook and did a dandy job. Norm Stunden worked on the mound for Aurora with Mac Clement behind the plate. He was hit hard, but truth to tell, Aurora miscues at inopportune moments were responsible for most runs. Nicholson, Procenko, and Minton played good games for the winners, with Dan Bova, Grant Blight and Bill McGhee looking best for Aurora. Missing on holidays from the Aurora line-up were Ken Broughton, Jimmy Rutledge, Tom Moffale, Lefty Gibson and Palmer.

Tonight the Vets are off to Langstaff and will be home next Tuesday.

RUMORS OF ICE DOINGS

The warm weather may be responsible for it all, but along the grapevine comes the news that Cliff Gunn has been working quietly the past few months on the idea of artificial ice for Newmarket and with a reasonable break he may just be able to produce an ice plant for canal town and district ere the snow falls. Newmarket lacrosse players and officials have been greatly impressed with the plant at Hespeler which cost around $125,000 all told, including the building of the arena. Artificial ice or not, the word is that Harry Goodman, who was interested in Newmarket junior hockey club, has been on a scouting safari for playing material and there be a few imports coming to Newmarket shortly. Goodman, after a taste of defeat last winter, is determined to bring back the glories of the past to Newmarket.

Aurora Flyers are sporting new double-breasted flannel blazers bearing the club's crest as mementoes of last season's financially successful hockey. A party is rumored sometime before the summer is over. Jack Offord is once again going to stage a big cycling show at Aurora on Thanksgiving Day under Canadian Wheelmen's sanction. Mr. Offord is tickled pink with the showing made by his riders at Oshawa. Billy McCleenny finished tenth in a field of 47 riders in the Canadian ten-mile championship and but for inexperience, might have made it closer. Ernie Ellis, 15, and with only a few weeks of training, was good enough to take down fourth place in the Canadian junior championship event. The youngster has another year and with plenty of competition and conditioning, should be tops when this event is carded for 1949. Bob Benville, veteran rider of the district who has always given a courageous display over the years, though seldom smiled upon by Dame Fortune, has finally decided to end his competitive career. He'll be available, however, to encourage the youngsters.

Del Gibney, who maestroed the York county Junior Farmers' softball club at Guelph recently, is singing the praises of the talent displayed by the country gals. He opines that if he could have the team together for a month, they'd be strong contenders for intermediate provincial honors. Fourteen-year-old Mary Jean Sinclair from up Sutton way did the pitching and looks to have everything but experience. Incidentally, 'tis said that the Willow Beach men's club of the Lake Simcoe loop wanted to sign up Mary Jean for infield or outfield duty but proxy Ross Chapman and the Lake Simcoe executive refused to allow a female invasion of the diamond.

OLYMPIC ODYSSEY

With the 1948 Olympic games turning now to their summer schedule, it is interesting to look back over the years and see what Canada has done by way of championships. In the winter sports section, Canada has annexed the hockey title five times in six tries, hockey only being included on the program as an exhibition feature in 1920 and made permanent as were all winter sports in 1924, Winnipeg Falcons ('20), Toronto Granites ('25), Toronto Varsity Grads ('28), Winnipeg ('32—they were lucky), and R.C.A.F. ('48—with the weakest team of all entries). Barbara Ann Scott, the pretty Ottawa teen-ager, now Hollywood bound, gave us the only other winter title in the 28-year-old span, broken, of course, by the Second World War. It seems strange to think that tobogganing, skiing, free skating, bob sled racing, ice boating and every other winter sport are dominated by Europeans or Americans and the representatives from Our Lady of the Snows get no place.

To most of us, however, the Olympic games really mean the summer sessions, but the records show that Canada has won only 12 individual championships and holds only two records since the first Canadian competitors entered the games at the turn of the century. (Continued next week.)

Keswick On Top Of Simcoe League

By GEO. HASKETT JR.

Mount Albert and Keswick are still showing the way in the Lake Simcoe softball battles. For the moment, by virtue of two wins, Keswick is a whilsker in front of the Mount lads.

Keswick with Harold Smith on the hill top eased out a 4-3 win, at home, over Sharon Friday evening. Ivan Eves was every bit as good on the Sharon mound but a couple of early errors gave the home side a lead which they never relinquished. Bob Pollock provided the extra base fun with a triple but was put out trying to make it show on the record book.

Keswick continued their winning stride with a 15-10 win at Vandroff, Monday. The heavy slugging Keswickers had their batting togs along to be full value for their victory. It must be recorded, right now, that Keswick, if they continue to pound the old apple the way they have of late, are going to be hard to halt—very hard indeed.

With Red Mitchell tossing shut-out ball Mount Albert pounded the far out of Queensville last Thursday. Mitchell didn't allow Queensville a run, Mount Albert put over 21. (Ouch, we just can't let this go on, Mr. Chapman).

Willow Beach showing surprising strength of late rolled into Vandroff Friday to score a 7-1 triumph.

Hope kept right up with the leaders with a 19-5 win over Brownhill. Lefty Don Glover swishing them over for the ultimate winners while Ivan Sedore worked for the losers.

Sharon, after dropping a toughie to Keswick, as aforesaid, took it out on Queensville to the merry tune of 22-6. Ivan Eves served up the shots for Sharon with Jack Petrie firing in the final frame. Bob English and Wilbur Dew had to share the punishment from the Sharon svatsmiths.

Pine Orchard, Tuesday night, brought home a win for their supporters to crow over as they laced Brownhill 10-8.

Publicity Agent, for the southern section, Ivan Eves, reports the teams aren't getting in the results. Come, come my friends. Roy and Bob Pollock are ready with some hot news from their end of the league. We'll be a listening. Keswick and Brownhill tilt, postponed June 29, is to be settled July 15.

Future games: July 8, Sharon at Mount Albert; July 9, Hope at

Six Golfers In Hunt For Jarvis Shield

Six golfers remain in the hunt for the Jarvis shield and the Highlands Golf club championship. Awaiting opposition in the semi-finals are two young Aurora golfers. Alan "Whitey" Jones and Eric "Stonewall" Smith. In the throes of providing winners are Bill Sherwood of Newmarket who tackles Hal Wallis of Toronto, and club champion, Larry "Smiler" Molyneux, who clashes with Dave Hart of Toronto. Some great golf has been played so far and pro Bill Mitchell looks for some par breaking play before the championship is decided. Jimmy Crean, well-known Richmond Hill softballer, recently annexed the Mulock trophy in a handicap event. Crean had a net 55.

Play, Swimming Facilities Enlarged at Aurora

Aurora—A slide has been installed in the Tyler St. playground, and Mrs. Craig McKenzie is on hand daily from 10 to 12 to give supervision to the youngsters using the playground. Yesterday 25 youngsters, accompanied by a number of adults who paid their fare, journeyed by bus to Wilcox Lake where Heath Hamilton provided free swimming instruction for the youngsters. The playground, aided by Local 27, N.U.S.L.W., and Collis Leather Company, and sponsored by Councillor Thomas Swindle, is proving a real boon for the summer. Three slides ordered by the recreation commission will arrive from Unionville this week and they will be installed in the Aurora town park. The Church Vacation school will have the use of these and other pieces of equipment.

TAKE TOURNAMENT

The Newmarket lawn bowlers put on an outstanding show, winning the tournament at Stayner yesterday when Jim Law and Vaughan Goring took three wins with 50 plus 3 and Andrew Mordison and Larry Bell took three wins with 48.

Keswick, Queensville at Willow Beach; July 13, Vandroff at Brownhill; July 14, Mount Albert at Zephyr, Willow Beach at Sharon; July 15, Hope at Mount Albert, Queensville at Vandroff.

News 'n' Views

By George Haskett

My! My! but those two holiday weeks go winging by, don't they? Monday the wheels will start turning again for most.

Lacrosse: Our lacrosse men came up with their best display of the year while young guys and gals were holidaying. They held Hespeler to a 15-8 score. For three minutes they looked like they might be headed for a win. They popped in two goals in those three minutes. It was not to be their first win, however, as Hespeler took charge. The visitors went to the front and stayed there. Harold Smart and Bill Heffner led the Newmarket attack with a pair of goals each. It was by far the roughest session staged by the gutted stick artists as penalties came thick and fast and several rumpus were tossed in to add spice to the proceedings.

Midjet softball: Well, the young gaffers who call themselves the midjet softball circuit, have the semi-finals settled. The Braves ousted the Blue Jays last week 15-5. Ted Taylor and his battery mate, Don Brice, were too much for the Blue Jays. Now the Dodgers and Braves will hook up in the "world series." When this will be settled is in doubt, as at the moment both teams are experiencing difficulty in rounding up a full side. You'll be missing a bet if you don't take in this crucial series when it does come up for decision.

Ladies' softball: The Newmarket Ladies are off to Midland tomorrow, Friday evening, to test out the newest entry in the league. Shanty Bay dropped out and Midland is taking their place. Better keep an eye on those gals, Mr. Courtney, some of them may decide to start their vacation up in "Canada's best vacation land," at least that is what any Midlander will tell you.

North Yonge softball: Our Aurora friends, they're going to shoot us for this, are very, very quiet about the last trip our Vets made there. If that whisper you hear is correct the Vets landed onto Aurora to trounce them 19-1. Moo Walsh's Aurora nine couldn't do a thing right—so the story goes—and the Vets turned on the heavy artillery.
